

POCAHONTAS POPE RESEARCH GUIDE

Sources That Showcase Religious Activism

Bahá'í Faith

Encyclopedia Britannica

March 2022

Do We Have Spiritual Ancestors? Meet Pocahontas Pope

Buck, Christopher

Wilmette Institute Department of Bahá'í History & Texts

September 2016

First D.C.-Based African American of the Bahá'í Faith Memorialized

Washington Informer

May 2018

The Black Pupil of the Eye: The Source of Light

Buck, Christopher

Wilmette Institute Department of Bahá'í History & Texts

September 2016

Primary Sources

Baptists Lyceum Demands Special Textbooks for Colored Schools

The Washington Post

February 1905

Evening Star Archives

Library of Congress: Chronicling America

1892-1938

“Most Great Reconstruction”: The Bahá’í Faith in Jim Crow South Carolina, 1898-1965
Venters, Louis E
University of South Carolina ProQuest Dissertations Publishing, pp. 27
2010

POCAHONTAS POPE

The Bahá’í Chronicles: A Journey Through to the Past and Present
October 2017

The Bahá’í Faith and African American History: Creating Racial and Religious Diversity
Dickerson, Dennis C.
D.C.: Lexington Books, pp. 7-11
2020

Secondary Sources

Later Baha’i Mrs J W (Pocahontas) Pope
DC: The Colored American
July 1900